

Shortlist — Top 15 for Your Profile

Candidate: Tunisian software-engineering graduate goal: international DJ/producer. Tracks: sound/music technology (primary) + music business. September 2027 intake.

How this is ranked: fully-funded first accepts a software-engineering background builds real DJ/producer/audio skills realistic admission odds. Every entry below is verified against the official page (July 2026). Because it's July 2026, most 2027 deadlines aren't published yet — dates marked (expected) are projected from the last cycle; confirm on the source URL.

Two things gate almost everything: take IELTS Academic by ~September 2026, and start your portfolio now. See ACTION-TIMELINE.md.

Tier 1 — Best overall: full funding + strong fit + accepts your CS background

1. DIGICREA — Erasmus Mundus Joint Master in Digital Creativity, Art & Science

- * Where: you rotate across 3 cities — Saint-Étienne, France (coordinator) Katowice, Poland Porto, Portugal.
- Funding: FULL — €1,400/month × 24 months (max €33,600) and zero tuition even without the scholarship lowest-risk option on this list.
- Fit: Sound-Music specialization (compositions, sound design, music). Leverages your software background at the art/tech/science intersection.
- Timing (ideal): 2027–2029 cohort call opens ~November 2026 — exactly your cycle. Portfolio of 3–5 works + motivation letter + 2 references. English B2+ (IELTS 6 / TOEFL 90).
